Source Code Repository Information

We are using a private GitHub repository that is shared among our team members and Project Coordinator in order to store our source code and documentation. To access the repository, you must first be added as a contributor to the repo. Afterwards, a git clone <repo_url> command can be run to clone all the files that are on the repository. The repo link is https://github.com/lucastao/stalkr.git. Git commands such as git pull, git commit, git branch, git push, and git merge allow the user to interact with the repo*.* A visual representation of the repository can also be found on GitHub.com under the repo name.
